

Regulatory compliance and governance

Building a regulatory data blueprint

Solidatus serves data-rich and highly regulated companies by providing an organization-wide, connected governance solution that goes beyond traditional data management offerings. Solidatus connects your data to the processes that create it, to the policies that guide it, and to the obligations that regulate it. With this regulatory data blueprint, you can maintain transparency, and rapidly adapt and scale to new regulations and organizational changes.

- Cut costs by 75% by reducing time-intensive, manual compliance work.
- Guarantee an exceptional customer experience through secure and consistent data usage.
- Meet reporting requirements covering corporate governance, market conduct, privacy, disclosure, fraud prevention, anti-money laundering and more with one scalable solution.

Leverage active metadata to deliver a connected solution for compliance

✓ Discover, visualize and activate

- Create a connected, regulatory data blueprint by easily integrating metadata from disparate inventories such as policies, reports, processes, systems, dataflows and risk and controls.
- Go beyond surface-level information by automatically visualizing the deep connections between your inventories and regulatory responsibilities.
- Present relevant perspectives of your data environment and create persona-specific views, permitting timely discovery at lower cost.

✓ Regulatory compliance control center

- Interrogate an evergreen, single source of truth bringing market resilience and the capability to instantly attest to your data.
- Deliver digitized, immutable evidence of compliance with reporting obligations, reducing manual effort and resource costs involved in preparing for examinations.
- Provide total transparency for executive decision-makers, board members and regulators, showing that critical data and underlying sources are well-known and controlled.

✓ Change resiliency

- Develop a compliance roadmap using as-is, as-was, and to-be views of your data landscape to quickly evaluate the impact of change to your systems, policies, processes, and personnel, reducing assessment time from months to seconds.
